

Issue 7 contributors

Meg (Gem backwards) Bartholomew is one of Australian-based Ruckus Slam's most enigmatic hosts. Meg's energy can move a silenced crowd out the emergency exits during a ill-rehearsed fire-drill all in the name of love. Her poetry is like hitting your funny bone. There is always humour in hurt and you'll think about doing it again.

Hai Xia is a real human poet from Brisbane. She writes poetry so people can call her issues art.

Dorothy Jiang is from Seattle, WA, but was uprooted to study Intersectional Mental Health in Rhode Island. She is not really a poet or a writer, but occasionally, phrases will arrive in the form of wind or rain or a fluttering heart, and who is she to say no to them before they flit away?

Angela Peita is a poet, workshop facilitator, and one 1/4 of Ruckus Slam. The piece included in PGP was first seen in her TinyLetter, which is a free weekly mailout of her poetry and short fiction. You can subscribe to see more of her work here: https://tinyletter.com/angela\_peita

Avantika Singhal is a 19-year-old poetess from Jaipur, India .

Lewis-Alan Trathen is a poet, performer and educator from Sydney, Australia. He was a state finalist in the 2015 and 2016 Australian Poetry Slams and has performed as a feature artist at numerous slams and festivals around Australia.